You ask what we, the Youth of today, believe.

Herein is a record of our thought processes. And herein, briefly stated, our credo.

In the dawn
Of a new day
We, Youth, ascend.
Happy! . . Joyful! . .
Seeking our way of life.

Halt.

Weapons clashing! . .

Shrieks piercing! . .

Men dying,

Dying,

Dying.

Monsters

Choking out the breath of life.

O God!

Was there ever — life?

But here!

Look —

This force

Lifting, reaching upward.

A tree, only.

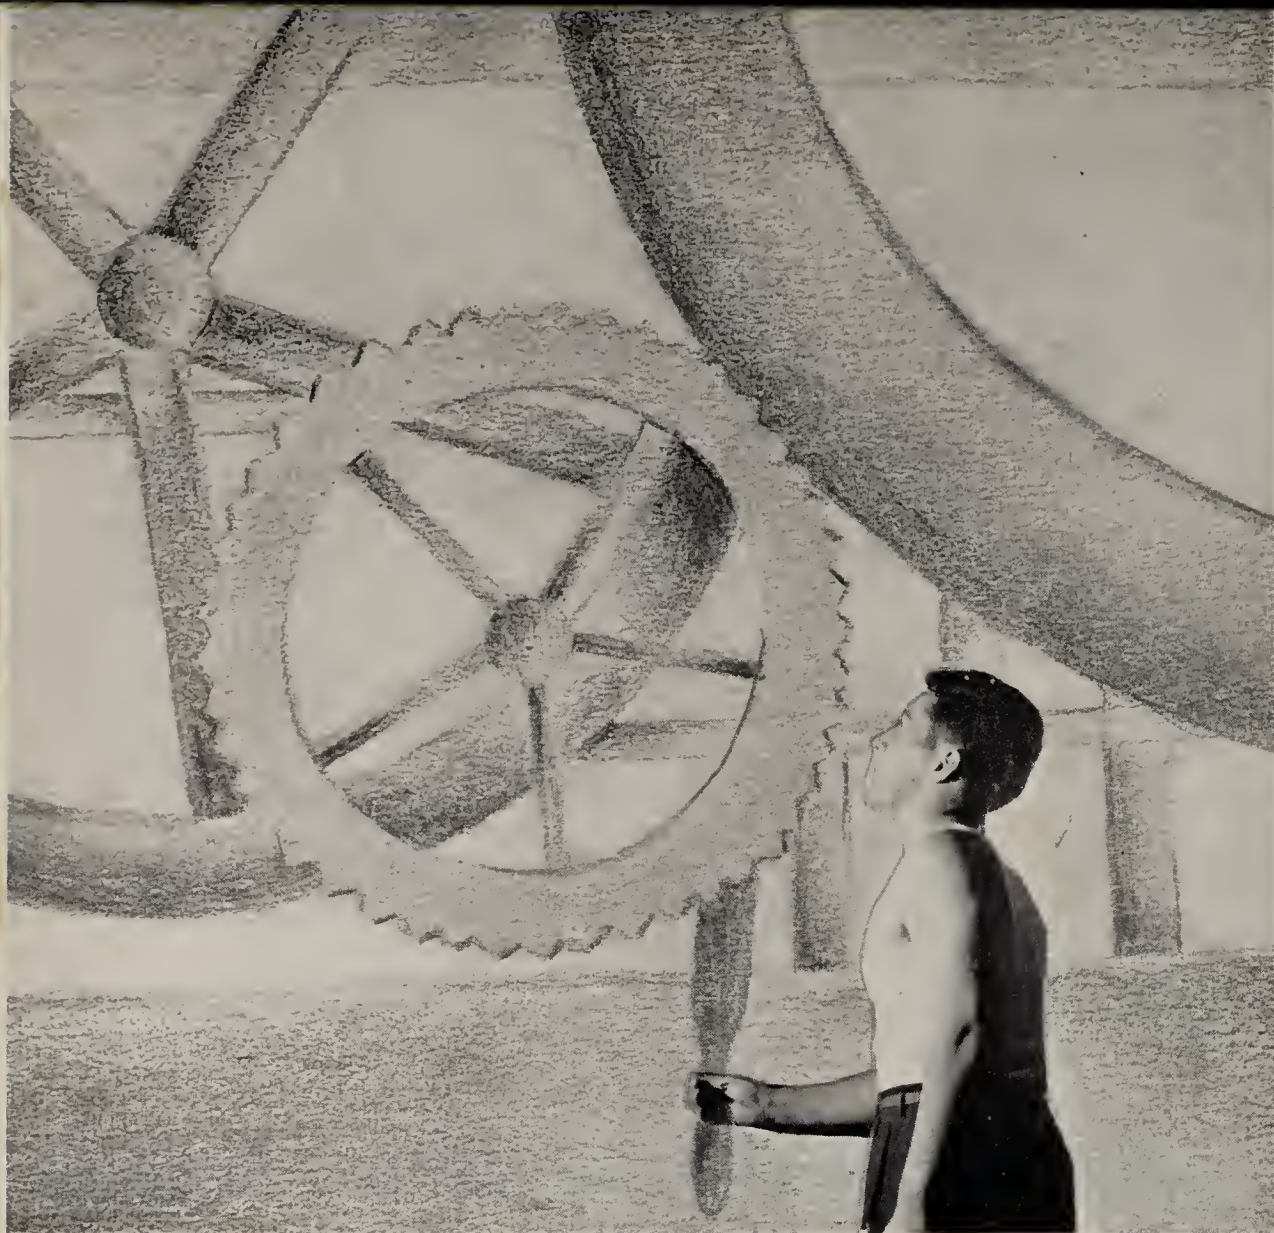

But here is life

Anew,

Life vibrant and free,

Ever, ever rising!

O God, we give thanks!

And this!

See —

Man. . .

Master of mechanism;
Possessor of intellect,
That essence
Of intergrated living.

Man!

He who holds harmony
At his discretion.

Child of today!

Out of the obliteration of our past
We bring you these —
God
And man.

With these,
God — steadfast, true,
Man — potential,
We, together, shall ascend
In the dawn of your new day.

Happy! . . Joyful! . .
Seeking your way of life.

To a Child of Today,
we, the Class of 1942,
dedicate this record.

EXPERIENCES

Decisions come. Communal thought, discrimination, and then action.

Ideas evolve from observation and diligent study . . .

. . . and energy is released in wholesome recreation.

Everyday details should have finesse.

We direct for your pleasure.

Ideas and problems are developed artistically by expressive minds and hands.

In singing hours is evidenced a togetherness.

and we observe and record the life about us frankly and philosophically.

Story of the Year

Back to school! Suitcases—smiling faces—old friends. Where is my trunk? A noisy enthusiasm is evident all through the building, and here and there is “Hello, roommate!” with a riot of accompanying laughter.

It's the seventh of September and the Castleton family is together. A bubbling beginning. A promising year ahead.

* * * * *

The take-off consists of orientation and registration, I. Q. tests, teas. Hosts of straying freshmen are about—bewildered, eager, active. Countless blanks to fill (oh, what can they do with all this information they so avidly gather!)—rushing—confusion—then classes. Everything all at once.

The beds are inviting and no one needs sleeping powders. But in troop upper classmen, and then it's new clothes—sun-tanned skins—squeals of delight—reunions—introductions—giggles—laughter—and the evening moves on till freshmen are tired, so tired. Someone quiet those people on third floor!—just a little too much noise. Then a grand get-together with gaiety—whirls, dips, folk dances. No seconds this time. The punch bowl is empty.

* * * * *

Hello, speakers—welcome! Commissioner Ralph E. Noble, Deputy Commissioner Carl Bachelder, thanks for your contribution. And off to the jungles now—“Forty-three Years in Africa” with Mrs. Bridgman. Dangers lurking, adventure.

A superintendent, so early? Yes, Mr. Stiles can't wait to peep at prospective teachers. He speaks on “School Standards.” Then comes Mr. John Fisher—inspiration, attention, tact—who is he?—goodness, don't you know?—chairman of the State Board.

* * * * *

Outside action now for a while. Puff! Puff!—Bird Mountain, here we come!—hot dogs, rest beside a camp fire—a freshman lost, soon found again. The picnic urge by now is upon us and it's off to the ledges, juniors, with Miss Morrill. Cheese burgers and fun. Hooray for picnics on Hooker's Ledge!

Play day—Lyndon, Johnson, University of Vermont. New friends and a day of good sport—please come again soon.

* * * * *

Renovations and rejoicing—the smell of new paint, a remodeled kitchen. Let's peek at the new green room on second floor!

Then it's open doors with swarms of people, bright lights, sparkling humor, surprises, satisfaction, appreciation—who comes?—The Home Comers. And it's good old friends, whispers of secrets, screams of delight and “have a sip and snack with us.”

Study hard, apply the dust mops and brooms. Mom's a good housekeeper, dad's a scholar! Parent's Day now and they're looking in on us.

And now Hallowe'en, with bundles of scarey witches, spooks, goblins, and the Commuters know their ghosts. We love to eat, the Seniors know it,—big, delicious sandwiches with a cheesy aroma in the air, mixed with that of hissing hot dogs. And then something special—boys eat spaghetti, no women allowed!

“Alice in Wonderland”—a White Rabbit. Dormouse. Fantasy, frolic—let's go! And soon a marriage—no, not on campus—but “Marriage of Figaro,” with a bus ride, thrilling voices, applause, then home. Later warm sun, playsuits, and tea is served—here comes High School Seniors.

* * * * *

Now for holidays and celebrations. Thanksgiving baskets with pumpkins, squash, jellies, turkey—yum! yum! That vacation is always too short.

And soon green. . . red. . . Christmas with woodsy smells, sleigh bells, snow, icicles, and gay carols for friends. A banquet and Yule Log Ceremony, a Nativity Play with angels, “Silent Night” and serious thoughts. And out of the quiet, gay parties with lights shining in the dark, popcorn, coco-cola, midnight.

Then packing, singing and rushing home we go. Christmas! Skiing—skating.
Crisp, cold breezes give us pep and all worries are forgotten.

* * * * *

Second semester comes. I'm glad to be back, vacations are fun, "Hi, kids!"
Presents galore.

And registration is once again (what a bother). Classes, marks, Dean's list, with accompanying cheers, smiles, congratulations, sighs, disappointments.

Then a sleigh ride. Commuters are in the grove—lanterns twinkle, sled runners crunch the snow. And what ho!—Winter Carnival with basketball, a treasure hunt, figure skating, skiing. Cheering and shouting. A tall, blonde king. A charming, dark-haired queen.

And St. Valentine comes with a peppy party, tired, happy faces. Goodnights, and the dorm is surprisingly quiet after a hilarious week-end.

Then it's down the receiving line at the Sophomore Hop into a "Winter Wonderland" with programs, music, fancy steps, new gowns, charm.

* * * * *

An added attraction in the college environment—a Defense school. Women everywhere. Automobiles torn apart, artificial respiration given free. Black coffee, plain bread and butter sandwiches—refreshments during a war period.

Followed by a gathering of great numbers—Teachers from all directions at the twenty-first annual Castleton Conference. Speaker Dr. Alonzo Myers. Inspiration for us from "Fundamental Assumption of Democratic Society." Tired feet, arms loaded with books, student teachers smiling importantly. Oodles of lesson plans, wrinkled brows. Fun just the same.

* * * * *

Mixture of formality and informality now as Lord Marley visits us, a noble personality, English from the heart. "Russia Today" and all attent in the audience.

A Diamond Jubilee celebration—banquet atmosphere—speeches, eating laughter, jokes, a serious word or two.

Then songs from the heart with Ernest Johnson. We welcome you again,
"Shortnin' Bread!"

Philips House is on the stage now. A peep into their daily living. Pep, vitality, friendship.

* * * * *

Tri-County Conference with hats, gloves, pocketbooks. New texts, magazines, speakers, thrills from the South Seas—a trip to Tahiti just what we need.

And off to New York go the delegated few. Eastern States Conference for you who are lucky, followed by intriguing reports of countless pleasures—Radio City—Cathedral of St. John the Divine, sights galore. Home again and we entertain Dr. Stratemeyer who gives practical aid and advice with students and faculty active listeners.

* * * * *

Spring vacation is past. No idle moments now. The Commuters' room has taken on a new dress—color, draperies—paint—beauty.

Personality ratings rush in—health, achievement, culture, poise and dignity, attitudes—and you're surprised how much you have grown.

Spring is in the air and on the ground. Flowers pop out of buds—Sophomores grab them quickly for their collection. Books are left inside for dust and spiders. Out we go into the fresh, green world!

* * * * *

A grand finale—lawn party,—picnic, swimming, boating, eating. No Prom this year! A formal party will have to do—lack of gasoline—lack of men—a grand time anyway! Rehearsals—speeches—processions—singing. Candles shining out in the evening dusk—memories—never forgotten friends. Packing—tears—smiles—caps and gowns—diplomas—marching—Alma Mater—goodbyes—a last look back —sighs—memories—Home Coming Day.

Like to the calm of Dover Beach
Which can express
A tale, far more sweetly than our lines,
Of crowded hours, friendships true,
Benevolence, impartiality, affectionate regard.
Listen! you hear the joyful play
Of pebbles which the waves bring on
In tremulous cadence, but gone too soon.

EXCERPTS FROM

And Gladly Would He Learn and Gladly Teach

Commencement Address of

RALPH E. NOBLE

Commissioner of Education of Vermont

The teachers of tomorrow will be faced with additional responsibilities and obligations placed upon them by a complicated world, a world of indescribable trouble, trouble which will condition the living of every individual everywhere. More than ever before the public school teacher must be adequately prepared for the practice of his profession.

In our democracy, public education will determine largely as to whether or not we can continue a free and united people. Education must be accepted by the public as the main long-term defense of the American way of life. Such public acceptance must be more than mere agreement as to principle; it must involve the continuance of adequate public financial and moral support for our schools. This support for education must be maintained, and possibly increased, at the same time that the costs for necessary military defense are mounting. With respect to this dual need, our United States Commissioner of Education has said: "We must find a way to keep both the teachers and the soldiers at their posts. Military defense must be paid for through sacrifice, but not through the sacrifice of the very things we seek to defend."

The Biblical assurance that "in my Father's house there are many mansions, if it were not so I would have told you," is the essence of hope. It could also be said in the house of this world there are many opportunities. Somewhere among them is your opportunity in teaching. It is my earnest hope that you seek and find it, and, that in the seeking and finding of it, you achieve for yourself, and for others who will be dependent upon you for guidance, excellence and happiness.

In Memoriam

FANNY ALLEN, born at Sunderland, Vermont in 1785, the beloved daughter of General Ethan Allen, the father and maker of Vermont and the greatest and best man ever therein. Thus she and our beloved State of Vermont are of the same noble and superior blood. Died at Montreal, Canada in 1819 in the Hotel Dieu Convent the parent and oldest one in America. Founded by the pious and heroic Jeanne Mance in 1642, the same year she founded the great city of Montreal. Here she, Fanny Allen, passed eleven years of her life, as a Nun, devoted to the holy services of Almighty God. She is buried in the crypt thereof which our then Governor, the Honorable George D. Aiken, now Senator at Washington, one time visited and placed a wreath of flowers on her tomb. A fitting honor to her who well merits to be called the Patron Saint of Vermont. Her life has been ably and beautifully written by Sister Helen Morrissey, a prominent member of that venerable and famous institution.

Contributed by Zenas H. Ellis of Fair Haven, Vermont in memory of his many relatives who have attended that efficient and noted School at Castleton, Vermont, whence General Ethan Allen marched in 1775 with his brave Green Mountain Boys to the capture of Fort Ticonderoga, the great event which ushered in the birth of our great Nation.
